"OLD GUARD" HUNTING FOR GOOD HARMONIZER
Want Candidate Who Will Get Party Factions Together and Heal Wound of 1912; Situation Favors Hughes

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
CHICAGO, Ill., June 5.—The nomination of Charles E. Hughes on an early ballot is inevitable, declares Frank Hitchcock, former postmaster-general, who is heading the Hughes movement here.
Many political wiseacres believe that Col. Roosevelt is already eliminated, and this has encouraged the boom of others, principally that of Senator Weeks, whose supporters are claiming more than 200 votes on the first ballot.
The decision of the Progressives not to nominate their candidate until Saturday followed a speech by Ex-Congressman Murdoch in which the Kansan declared that he is for Roosevelt. "I will not be for any non-committee candidate at this time," he declared.
A special "clearing committee" of the Bull Moose party, with power to treat with the Republicans and to handle a publicity campaign has been appointed consisting of George W. Perkins and Horace Willingham of New York and Governor Hiram Johnson of California.
The Hughes sentiment among party leaders by its apparent strength and popularity. The Republicans consider its growth a force to be reckoned with on Wednesday. Hitchcock, the chief Hughes adviser, contends that the combined strength of the "favorite sons" is only 345 votes, and predicts that Hughes will get more on the first ballot than all the "favorite sons" combined.
Supporters of Mr. Hughes let it be known today that Governor Whitman of New York, who will make the speech nominating the justice, will outline Hughes' views and record on important national issues.
The Congressional Union for Women Suffrage opened its convention today and will continue for three days. A women's party is planned. Maude Younger of California, in an address to the convention, urged that the party stand for but one issue in this campaign—equal suffrage.

It is estimated that 25 people lost their lives in the disaster and several coaches were hurled off the broken track. Six bodies were found within a few hours after the accident occurred, but the search is progressing slowly as one of the coaches is submerged and it is almost impossible to get into it.

HAWAII DELEGATION IS UNDECIDED ON CANDIDATE

(Special Marconigram to Star-Bulletin)
CHICAGO, Ill., June 5.—Hawaii's delegation to the Republican convention is arriving today, and there is every chance that it will have a vote in the convention.
The credentials committee reports favorably on the Hawaii delegation voting. Robert W. Breckons, prospective national committeeman, says that the chances are ten to one that Hawaii recovers the votes lost when the national committee acted adversely to the territorial delegation.
How the Hawaii pair will vote when it comes to nominating the candidate for president is undecided.

RUMOR OCEANIC IS YIELDING TO WAGE DEMANDS

San Francisco Despatch Says Steamship Line May Have Acceded

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 5.—It is rumored early this afternoon that the Oceanic Steamship Company has acceded to the demands of the striking longshoremen and waterfront workers.
President Foley of the International Longshoremen's Union denied today the rumor that a meeting has been arranged between shipowners and the executive council of the longshoremen's organizations.
A rumor entirely unconfirmed and bearing some evidences that it is little more than a rumor, developed yesterday in Honolulu's waterfront circles.
It is that last Saturday a meeting of stevedores of all nationalities excepting Japanese was held and that the meeting decided to agitate for higher wages provided the Japanese could be induced to join the movement. Then, the rumor continued, representatives of the stevedores were sent to Japanese stevedores Saturday afternoon and the Japanese were asked to join. The request is said to have been met with a refusal, the Japanese declining to enter into any combination at this time.
The rumor came from Japanese waterfronters, and was accompanied by another report that this morning the wages of the Japanese stevedores were raised 10 cents per day, making a daily wage of $1.45 per day.
Both stories were denied absolutely and in toto at the office of McCabe, Hamilton & Rensy Company, stevedoring firm. At this office, where any news of the kind should certainly be known, the story was said to have no foundation whatever so far as had been heard.
That such rumors may be started for the purposes of wage agitation is the belief in some waterfront quarters.

BERLIN DECLARES JELICOE'S MOST POWERFUL SHIPS WERE ENGAGED IN COLOSSAL FIGHT

British Estimate of 18 German Vessels to 14 British is Accepted in London— Fighting on West Front Still Terrific

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)
LONDON, England, June 5.—The British Admiralty today denied that any warship was lost off the Humber, and also denied the German report that the cruiser Euryalus was set on fire and burned. The Euryalus was not in the battle off Jutland, declares the statement, which adds: "The British remained in possession of the scene on June 4, and traversed the field four times, without the enemy showing himself. Then the commander took the fleet to its bases at his leisure."

LONDON, Eng., June 5.—That the powerful fighting-ship Gen. von Hindenburg, believed to be Germany's latest and greatest dreadnought, has been sunk as a result of the naval battle off Jutland, is the news brought to England by naval officers returning from the engagement.

These officers identify the two large German warships which were said to be destroyed but whose names were not definitely known, as the von Hindenburg and the battle-cruiser Lutzow.

Despatches from Denmark today report that the battle-cruiser Seydlitz was badly damaged in the fight and was pursued by British vessels south of Jutland the morning after the affray.

The British admiralty this morning issued a statement that the British loss in officers was 333.

The British estimate of 18 German vessels lost to 14 lost by the British is accepted as correct by the majority of the public. On this basis a complete British victory is claimed.

Big British Cruiser Burned Out, English Losses Heavy, Says Germany

BERLIN, Germany, June 5.—The British armored cruiser Euryalus was set on fire and completely burned out by the German gunners in the North Sea battle. The Euryalus was of 12,000 tons, built in 1901, and a sister-ship of the Hogue and Cressy, torpedoed by a German submarine soon after the war started.

An authoritative German account of the great battle says that 26 of Admiral Jellicoe's most powerful ships were engaged in the fight in all except the first stages. Early in the battle a smaller force of British was engaged but the large vessels kept arriving in greater numbers until the most powerful fleet ever assembled in actual battle was taking part in the furious exchange of cannon-shot.

Germany Officially Tells Of Battle

The following cablegram from official German sources has been received by the Star-Bulletin:
"German Admiralty report, June 3: In order to prevent fabulous tales, it is stated again that in the battle of Skagerak on May 31, German high sea fleet forced the combat with the whole modern British fleet. Following details to be added to those already published:
"According to British admiralty reports that the battle cruiser Invincible and armored cruiser Warrior were destroyed. German small cruiser Elbing, which had been severely damaged by collision with another German man-of-war during the night of May 31, was blown up since it couldn't be brought back. German torpedo boat rescued the crew, with the exception of the commanding officers and 18 sailors, who remained on board in order to carry out explosion. According to Dutch reports, these were brought to Ymuiden on board the trawler Rag."
